

Raupp, J.T. and Gleason, K., 2010, Submerged whaling heritage in Papahanaumokuakea...
AIMA Bulletin Volume 33, 2009

AIMA Bulletin Volume 32, 2008

AIMA Bulletin Volume 31, 2007

AIMA Bulletin Volume 30, 2006

ALIMA Bulletin Volume 29, 2005

AIMA Bulletin Volume 28, 2004

AIMA Bulletin Volume 26, 2002

- Finney, S., 'The economics of shipwreck management', page 1
- McCarthy, M., 'The archaeology of the jetty', page 7
- Richards, N., & Lewczak, C., 'An overview of the Holdfast Bay Project', page 19
- Rodrigues, J., 'Holdfast Bay historical artefacts' page 27
- Rodrigues, J., 'Holdfast Bay Jetty: Examining associated material cultural', page 35
- Gaur, S. et al., 'Stone anchors from Bet Dwarka Island, Gujarat Coast, India, page 43
- Rixon, A., 'Examining the fragments of lace retrieved from the wreck of the Batavia, page 51
- Bednarik, R., 'The First Mariners Project', page 57
- Illidge, P., 'The Tahitian Mourner’s Costume from HMS Pandora', page 65
- Jeffery, B., 'UNESCO Convention on the Protection of the Underwater Cultural Heritage', page 75
- Nash, M., 'A survey of the steamship Tasman, (1873–1883), page 83
- McCarthy, M., 'After seventeen years an iron wreck and its people transformed', page 91
- Dellino, V., 'Archaeological evidence and historical documents: The HMS Swift', page 105
- Green, J., 'Side scan sonar & magnetometer for locating archaeological sites, page 119

AIMA Bulletin Volume 25, 2001

- McPhee, E., 'History and archaeology of the pearl shelling industry in Torres Strait', page 1
- Fallowfield, T., 'Polynesian fishing implements from HMS Pandora', page 5
- Jeffery, B., 'Cultural contact along the Coorong in South Australia', page 29
- Kelly, R. E., 'Romancing a sixteenth century galleon in a California seashore', page 39
- Clark, P. and Jung, S., 'Beyond the wrecked ship: the Northern Territory’s shipwreck database', 43
- Tikkanen, S., 'The Baltic Sea and inland lakes: Underwater cultural heritage in Finland', page 53
- Carter, R. W. and Homeman, L., 'Does a market for heritage tourism exist?', page 61
- Leader-Elliot, L., 'Heritage, tourism and integrity - making it work’, page 69
- Paine, L., 'Blazing the Maine Maritime Heritage Trail: Planning and prospects', page 75
- Kelly, R. E., 'New wine in old bottles', page 79
- Elkin, D and Cafferata, H., 'Underwater archaeology and cultural tourism in Patagonia', page 83
- Elkin, D. and Dellino, V, 'Underwater heritage: The case in Argentina', page 89
AIMA Bulletin Volume 24, 2000

- Clark, P., 'Ashmore Reef: Archaeological evidence of past visitation', page 1
- Smith, T., 'Up periscope: submarine AE2 makes first contact', page 9
- Anderson, R., 'First contact between Europeans and Aboriginals in Victoria', page 21
- Frederickson, C., 'Capitalism, colonialism and seaborne power in Maluku', page 27
- Nutley, D., 'Developing a methodology for inundated archaeological sites in Australia', page 35
- Souter, C., 'Archaeology on Dirk Hartog Island, Western Australia', page 37
- Stacey, N., 'Pearlers, planes and people of the sea', page 41
- Burningham, N., 'Technical analysis of ships of first contact represented in art', page 63
- Burningham, N., 'The Duyfken replica project as experimental archaeology', page 71
- Walters, I., 'First Austronesian contacts with mainland SE Asia and N Australia', page 77
- Akerman K., and Dwyer, D. 'The Senabi: external stern lashings on Austronesian water-craft', page 85
- Smith, T., 'Shipwrecks and the Australian psyche', page 89
- Gibbs, M., 'The corpse of the Carley Float', page 99
- Jung, S., 'Quarantine Island, East Arm and the Darwin harbour Catalina puzzle', page 105
- Dwyer, D., 'A Rotenese discovery tale for Ashmore Reef, North Australia', page 115
- Steinberg, D., 'The Australian: a shipwreck located in the Northern Territory', page 119
- Veth, P., et al, 'The mystery of the Ujir site of the Aru Islands, Maluku', page 125
- McCarthy, M., 'The Australian Contact Shipwrecks Program', page 133

AIMA Bulletin Volume 23, 1998

- Smith, S.O., 'The role of the missions in pre-gold-rush Pacific', page 1
- Erskine, N., 'The Pitcairn project', page 3
- Beck, S., 'Ceramic arm bands recovered from the wreck of the schooner Foam', page 11
- Strachan, S., 'The iron/steel barquentine 'La Bella' and the iron barque <l>Polly Woodside', page 18
- Riley, J., 'Early steamships and the modification of the Auckland engines', page 28
- Anderson, R., 'ss Consid and the ss Monumental City: First steamships across the Pacific', page 31
- Smith and C. Weir, T., 'The whaling wreck site potential of NSW', page 40
- Viduka, A., et al, 'A comparison of the GADDs with powder X-ray diffraction', page 46
- Randell, S., 'The effects of material type on concretion formation on the HMS Pandora', page 51
- Moran, V., and Jeffery, B., 'The Yongala and Cooma shipwrecks - comparing the fates of similar ships', page 56
- Miles, P., 'Merchant navy losses off the New South Wales coast on World War II', page 67
- Green, J. and Souter, C., 'Application of the HPASS to the Pandora archaeological project, page 75
- Smith, T., 'Submarines by the sea full: The Pacific's unique archaeological resource', page 79
- Jeffery, B., 'Digital mapping of submerged and shipwreck sites', page 86
- Boyd, W.E., 'Origin of wooden dug-out canoe discovered in eastern Australia', page 95
- Wolfe, A., 'ss Papanui', page 101
- O'Keefe, M., 'The Inconstant shipwreck Wellington, New Zealand', page 121
- Bandler, H., 'Maritime food sources on the Pacific Rim in pre-European Australia', page 126

AIMA Bulletin Volume 22, 1998

- Tripati, et al., S., 'Historical period stone anchors from Vijaydurg on the west coast of India', page 1
- Maniku, M.H., 'Ecolution of the maritime craft and the development of ethnic boatbuilding technology in the Maldives', page 9
- Blot, J.-Y., 'From Peru to Europe (1784-1786): Field and model analysis of a ship overload', page 21
- von Arnim, Y., 'The wreck of the 5th rated British frigate HMS Sirius (1797) in Mauritius', page 35
- J. Pasveer et al., 'Victims of the Batavia mutiny: physical anthropological and forensic studies of the Beacon Island skeletons', page 45
- McCarthy, M., 'Zuytdorp far from home', page 51
- Erskine, N., 'Testing the waters: Some navigation problems of long distance voyages with particular reference to the wreck of the Portuguese ship Correio da Azia on the Western Australian coast, 26 November 1816', page 55
- McCarthy, M., 'The submarine as a class of archaeological site', page 61
- Drew, T., 'Solomon Islands: Guadalcanal shipwrecks revisited', page 71
- Richards, N., 'Inferences from the study of iron and steamship abandonment: A case study from the Garden Island ships' graveyard, South Australia', page 75
- MacLeod, I.D., 'In-situ corrosion studies on iron and composite wrecks in South Australian waters: implications for site managers and cultural tourism', page 81
- Hewitt, G., 'Screw Steamer Conside (1847-1852): A technical interpretation of its machinery', page 91
- McCarthy, M., 'The study of iron steamship wrecks: Is it archaeology?', page 99
- Randell, S., 'Marine growth on shipwrecks', page 107
- Ward, I.A.K., et al., 'Towards new process-oriented models for describing wreck disintegration-an example using the Pandora wreck', page 109
- Nutley, D., 'Ten years of shipwreck access and management practices in New South Wales', page 115
- Gribble, J., 'Keeping our heads above water-the development of shipwreck management strategies in South Africa', page 119
- Cooper, D., 'Issues in Cultural Resource Management: A case study from the great Barrier Reef', page 125
- McCarthy, M. and Garratt, D., 'The Western Australian Maritime Museum's wreck access and outreach program', page 127
- Boshoff, J.J., 'NAS courses in South Africa', page 133
- Moran V., and Staniforth, M., 'The AIMA/NAS Part 1 Training Program', page 137

AIMA Bulletin Volume 21, 1997

- Campbell, J., 'Eighteenth century wooden clubs from HMS Pandora', page 1
- Tracey, M.M., 'The ss Douglas Mawson-A launching and a shipwreck', page 9
- Burningham, N., 'The Duyfken project', page 19
- Huystee, M. van, 'Brief history of the Dutch jacht the Duyfken', page 23
- Wolfe, A., 'A survey of maritime archaeology and cultural maritime heritage consulting in Australia', page 25
- N. Burningham & J. Mellefont, 'The exceptional janggolan', page 35
- Wolfe, A., 'In search of the Larkins', page 67
- Kenderdine, S., 'Diving into shipwrecks: aquanauts in cyberspace', page 85
- Anderson, R., 'Background & history of the brig Dato ex Ekenäs', page 97
- Souter, C., 'Interpreting the archaeology of the Dato', page 103
- Steinberg, D., 'The 1996 survey of the Dato historic shipwreck', page 107
- Erskine, N., 'Construction analysis of the Day Dawn', page 111
- Erskine, N., 'Survivors from the wreck of the Day Dawn', page 117
- Thomson, L., 'The biodegradation of the wreck Day Dawn', page 119
- Williams, K., 'Discussion of the move of the Day Dawn', page 125
- Moran, V., 'Some management options for the perched hull Day Dawn', page 129
- Moran, V., 'Sea Scour Control Systems', page 133

AIMA Bulletin Volume 20, 1996

- Harvey, P., 'A review of stabilisation works on the wreck of the William Salthouse in Port Phillip Bay', page 1
- Nutley, D., 'Shipwrecks Sharks and Shattered timbers - the Shipwreck Atlas of New South Wales'
- Coroneos, C., 'The shipwreck universe of the Northern Territory', page 11
- Jung, S., 'Archaeological investigations of the Catalina wreck sites in East Arm, Darwin Harbour', page 23
- Oxley, I., 'The development of an integrated approach to field archaeology in the UK and the role of the Archaeological Diving Unit (ADU)', page 41
- Riley, J., 'Low Cost "Z"s', page 54
- Riley, J., 'Estimating depth of cover on screw steamship wrecks powered by inverted, compound, triple expansion and quadruple expansion engines', page 55

AIMA Bulletin Volume 19, 1995

- Gould, R.A., 'The Bird Key Wreck, Dry Tortugas National Park, Florida', page 7
- Nutley, D., 'More than a shipwreck: the convict ship Hive-Aboriginal and European contact site', page 17
- O'Donnell, D., 'The nineteenth century Pacific guano trade', page 27
- Green, J., 'Management of maritime archaeology under Australian legislation', page 33
- Hosty, K., 'Windows into the past: Maritime Archaeology Workshops at the Australian National Maritime Museum', page 45

AIMA Bulletin Volume 19, 1995

- White, C., 'Putting people back into ships: the use of archaeological evidence in the interpretation of preserved ships', page 1
- Rowland, M.J., 'Indigenous water-craft use in Australia. The 'Big Picture' and small experiments on the Queensland coast', page 5
- Smith, T., 'Probe surveys of 'dry' shipwrecks', page 19
- Pigott, L., 'The surgeon's equipment from the wreck of HMS Pandora', page 23
- Smalley, J., 'Life on board Manila galleons', page 29
AIMA Bulletin Volume 18, 1994

- Kapitän, G., 'Stone-shank anchors of the Arab-Indian trade period—were they mooring anchors?', page 1
- Tilburg, H. Van, 'Chinese maritime history and nautical archaeology: where have all the ships gone?', page 7
- Powell, J., 'Archaeological evidence for fishing in the prehistoric Agean', page 11
- Guthrie, J., Blackall, L., Moriarty, D. and Gesner, P., 'Wrecks and marine microbiology: a case study from the Pandora', page 19
- Parthesius, R., 'The Batavia Project: an experimental reconstruction of a 17th century East Indian', page 25
- Kenderdine, S. and Vosmer, T., 'Maritime graffiti in Oman', page 33

AIMA Bulletin Volume 17, 1993

- Jeffery, B., 'Maritime archaeology: what's in it for Australians!', page 1
- Gesner, P., 'Managing Pandora's box- the 1993 Pandora expedition', page 7
- Kenderdine, S., 'Muddy waters: accessing the cultural landscape of the River Murray', page 11
- Devendra, S., 'Remains of riverine craft: source material for ecological and community studies', page 17
- Cleere, H., 'The underwater heritage and the World Heritage Convention', page 25
- O'Keefe, P.J., 'The European Convention on the Protection of the Archaeological Heritage-relevance to maritime archaeology', page 27
- Maarleveld, T.J., 'Between frugality and eclecticism. Some thoughts on the management of an archaeological cornucopia', page 31
- Vosmer, T., 'The yatra dhoni of Srilanka', page 37
- Smith, T., 'The Walter Hood: walking the waters', page 43
- Churchill, D., 'New Zealand shipwreck legislation', page 47

AIMA Bulletin Volume 17, 1993

- Delgado, J.P., 'ss Beaver: the archaeology of the first steamship on the Pacific Coast of North America', page 3
- Millar, K., 'Preliminary report on observations made on the techniques and traditions of Maldivian shipbuilding', page 9
- Bass, G., 'Underwater archaeology as an adequate discipline', page 17
- Green, J.N. and Vosmer, T., 'The Australian shipwreck database; an interim report', page 33
- Padma, B.S., 'Maritime archaeology of Andhra Pradesh Prolegemenon to a study of a Roman influenced Buddhist culture in South India', page 39
- Henderson, G., 'Between the devil and the deep blue sea: maritime archaeology and museums', page 45

AIMA Bulletin Volume 16, 1992

- Smith, T., 'The barque Fame - Sydney Harbour reveals another casualty', page 1
- Smith, T., 'The Queen of Nations: one hundred and twelve years on', page 9
- Nayton, G., 'The importance of the maritime perspective to the understanding of Australian historical archaeological sites', page 17
- Wolfe, A., 'The steamship Oakland', page 25
- Kimpton, G., 'Construction of replica anchor stocks and a carronade carriage for display of artefacts from HMS Sirius (1790)', page 31

AIMA Bulletin Volume 16, 1992
- Ronquillo, W.P., 'Management objectives for Philippine maritime archaeology', page 1
- Buranasiri, B., 'Ceramic wares found in Koh Talu wreck site: their usage and life', page 7
- Mongkolkamnournet, N., 'Maritime archaeology in Thailand', page 13
- Johnston, P.F., 'Maritime museum policy and the acquisition of archaeological materials', page 15
- Aubry, M.C., 'Federal and State shipwreck management in the United States of America', page 19
- Khan, H.V., 'Existing evidence of maritime archaeology in Vietnam and its prospects', page 23
- Napitupulu, S., and I., 'Maritime archaeological exhibition in the Museum Nasional in Indonesia', page 27
- Regis, P., and Koon, P., 'Management issues of underwater archaeology in Sabah', page 31
- Mozai, T., 'Application of some electronic high-techniques for underwater archaeology', page 35
- Jones, M., and Baker, P., 'Marine archaeology and photogrammetry, what can be achieved now', page 37

AIMA Bulletin Volume 15, 1991

- Lenehan, S., 'Address of the 10th Annual Conference of the Australian Institute for Maritime Archaeology', page 2
- Cassidy, W., 'Historic shipwrecks and blanket declaration', page 4
- Coroneos, C., 'One interpretation for the short working lives of early Australian wooden sailing vessels in Victorian waters', page 7
- Gesner, P., 'A maritime archaeological approach to the Queensland labour trade', page 15
- Staniforth, M., 'The maritime archaeology of immigration', page 21
- Kenderdine, S., 'Te Waka Maori. Maori canoe in New Zealand prehistory: reconstruction from an archaeological perspective including oral and historical evidence', page 29
- McKinnon, R.J., 'The Kangaroo Island shipwreck survey and community involvement', page 37
- Evans, V., and Nutley, D., 'Hooked on anchors', page 41
- Bell, P., 1991, 'Research and management issues arising from sites associated with the South Australian bay whaling and sealing industries', page 45
- Sexton, R.T., 'Some composite-built ships compared', page 59

AIMA Bulletin Volume 15, 1991

- Kenderdine, S., 'Legislation and the submerged cultural heritage of New Zealand', page 1
- Churchill, D., 'The Maritime Archaeological Association of New Zealand - MAANZ (Inc.)', page 7
- Wolfe, A., 'The Parramatta River Project: an introduction to the maritime and underwater archaeological significance of ten sites on the banks of the Parramatta River', page 11
- Vosmer, T., and Wright, J., 'Lady Lyttleton- a search for origins', page 19
- Jeffery, B., and Kenderdine, S., 'Chinese emigration to South Australia aboard foreign-owned vessels: the Guichen Bay shipwrecks of 1857', page 31
- Nash, M., 'Recent work on the Sydney Cove historic shipwreck', page 37

AIMA Bulletin Volume 14, 1990
AIMA Bulletin Volume 14, 1990

- Ghisalberti, E.L. and Godfrey, I., 'The application of nuclear magnetic resonance spectroscopy to the analysis of pitches and resins from marine archaeological sites', page 1
- Smith, G., 'A brief history of the J. Class submarines', page 9
- Nash, M., 1990, 'Survey of the historic ship Litherland (1834-1853)', page 13
- Ronquillo, W.P., 'Philippine underwater archaeology: present research projects and new developments', page 21
- Carpenter, J., 'A review of physical methods used to remove concretions from artefacts, mainly iron, including some recent ideas', page 25
- Cahill, D., 'The Cerberus', page 53
- Henderson, G., 'Acquisitions policy as it relates to shipwreck material at the Western Australian Museum', page 56

AIMA Bulletin Volume 13, 1989

- MacLeod, I.D. 'The application of corrosion science to the management of maritime archaeological sites', page 7-16.
- Prishanchit, S., Re-excavation at the Samed Ngam ship site on the east coast of Thailand, page 17-22.
- Zhang, Y. Q., 'A 12 - 13th century stone anchor of Southern Song recently discovered on the coast of the South China Sea', page 27-32.
- Green, J. and Parthesius, R., 'Comparative archaeological and historical evidence from reconstruction of the original Batavia and a modern replica', page 33-34.
- Jeffery, W., 'Research into Australian-built coastal vessels wrecked in South Australia', page 51-56.

AIMA Bulletin Volume 13, 1989

• Foster, L., 'Defence and Victorian shipwrecks', page 19-27.

AIMA Bulletin Volume 12, 1989

• Stanbury, M. and MacLeod, I.D., 'Colonies, convicts and filtering stones: roads to solutions', page 1-10.
• Garratt, D., 'North Carolina Maritime Museum', page 11-12.
• Hosty, K., 'Bagging the William Salthouse: site stabilisation work in the William Salthouse', page 13-16.
• Lorimer, M., 'A data dictionary for shipwreck databases', page 33-36.

AIMA Bulletin Volume 12, 1989

• Strachan, S., 'The Port Fairy shipwreck resource: a case for area declaration', page 9-16.
• McDougall, K., 'Towards a real-time, three-dimensional underwater measuring system for maritime archaeology', page 17-20.
• Morse, K., 'An archaeological survey of midden sites near the Zuytdorp wreck, Western Australia', page 37-40.
• McCafferty, M., 'Direct linear transformation, a case study based on HMS Pandora', page 51-55.

AIMA Bulletin Volume 11, 1987

• Atkinson, K., 'The significance of the Rowley Shoals wreck to the study of whaling in the South Seas', page 1-7.
• Nash, M., 'Recording of wreck site environments', page 32.
• Randall, N., 'Western Australia's shore-based whaling heritage', page 33-36.
• Nutley, D., 'Investigations into an early eighteenth century instrument believed to be a set of dividers from the Rowley Shoals wreck', page 41-42.
• Morris, P., 'Applications of isometric projection for archaeological drawing and wreck site plans', page 43-46.
• Foster, L., 'Doing shipwreck history', page 47-49.
• Green, J., 'Two early shipwreck sites in Korea', page 50-51.

AIMA Bulletin Volume 11, 1987
- Prince, B., 'The excavation of the Rottnest Island Trail experiment', page 5-6.
- Harvey, P., 'A pre-disturbance survey of the shipwreck Clarence in Port Phillip Bay, Victoria', page 14-16.
- Nutley, D., 'Maritime heritage protection: education as the long arm of the law', page 29-34.
- Lorimer, M., 'Keeping the light burning, a cultural resource management strategy for lighthouses', page 35-38.
- Powell, B., and Jeffery, B., 'A catalogue of artefacts recovered during the rescue archaeology of the shipwreck Tigress', page 47-59.

AIMA Bulletin Volume 10, 1986

- Hundley, P.H., 'Kasmiri watercraft and their construction', page 7-12.
- Strachan, S.M., 1986, 'A research design for European influenced shipbuilding in India and Southeast Asia: the Sydney Cove (1797)', page 37-44.

AIMA Bulletin Volume 10, 1986

- Maritime Archaeological Association of WA Five Year Report, January 1979 to December

AIMA Bulletin Volume 9, 1985

- Kimpton, G., 'Lifting heavy artefacts from the wreck site', page 1-4.
- Drew, T. 'Art and research in maritime archaeology - an example', page 5-6.
- Staniforth, M., 'The introduction and use of copper sheathing - a history', page 21-46.

AIMA Bulletin Volume 8, 1984

- MacLeod, I.D., 'A genuine sixteenth century forged coin', page 1-9.
- Clark, P., and Jeffery, B., 'Surveying the Pandora: the methodology and techniques used on the 1983 HMS Pandora expedition', page 17-23.
Hewitt, G., 'Port Welshpool - remains of a bottom-dump spoil lighter, page 24-34.
Drew, T., 'An innovative intercom for black water diving', page 35-36.

AIMA Bulletin Volume 8, 1984

Stanbury, M., 'SS Fin or SS Fynd ? - The identification of an iron whaler wrecked off Fraser Island, Norwegian Bay, Western Australia', page 1-4.
Richards, B., 'Low visibility underwater photography in the Gulf of Thailand', page 13-14.
Green, J., McCarthy, M., and Penrose, J., 'Site inspection by remote sensing - the HMAS Sydney search: a case study', page 22-42.

AIMA Bulletin Volume 7, 1983

AIMA Bulletin Volume 7, 1983

McCarthy, M., 'Ships fastenings (a preliminary study)', page 1-24.
Lester, S., 'Notes and news from Tasmania', page 25-29.
Staniforth, M., 'A report of the 1981 Leeman Expedition', page 34-42.
Hundley, P., 'Progress report: Batavia reconstruction', page 43.
Hundley, P., 'Education in maritime archaeology', page 44.

AIMA Bulletin Volume 6, 1983

Christopher, P., 'Society for Underwater Historical Research Inc', page 51-52.
Kentish, P.J., Amedel's role in the conservation of Australian heritage, page 58-61.
Cushnahn, S., and Staniforth, M., 'Magnetometers for wrecksite location: a case study at Bunbury, Western Australia', page 62-80.
Stevens, R., 'Archaeological drawing', page 81-84.